

Clouds
 The clouds are made of water droplets that are too small to see. They are made of water droplets that are too small to see. They are made of water droplets that are too small to see.

The clouds are made of water droplets that are too small to see. They are made of water droplets that are too small to see. They are made of water droplets that are too small to see.

Clouds
 The clouds are made of water droplets that are too small to see. They are made of water droplets that are too small to see. They are made of water droplets that are too small to see.